Freedom of Information Disclosure Log
January 2008 - December 2024

The purpose of a Public Authority's disclosure log is to make individual releases of information disclosed under the FOI Law available to the widest possible public audience. The benefits of a disclosure log include:

- Providing the public with a user-friendly source of information disclosed under the FOI Law by a public authority;
- Allowing information disclosed to one applicant to be made available to a wider public audience and therefore reducing the need for the public authority to deal with multiple requests for the same information;
- Allowing information released to be accompanied with supporting information, explaining issues of public interest in greater depth; and
- Providing the public with a greater understanding of what information the public authority holds, thus enabling the public to make better informed information requests for records in the future.
